About
Epoch Design

Part of a £100million agency network, Epoch delivers innovative, challenging and effective in-store branding, communications and support for some of the world's biggest FMCG brands.

"We liked the fact that, with Datashred, we could have a dedicated account manager who was on hand to answer any queries we might have. Datashred's service has lived up to the excellent levels promised when we started the contract. Always happy to help, they provide an incredibly reliable service."

01: The Challenge

Prior to outsourcing shredding services to Datashred, Epoch's confidential waste was shredded in-house, using a commercial office shredder.

This was not only time consuming and inefficient, it also meant that the company didn't have a complete audit trail for their confidential waste, or secure containers for storing the waste on site.

Nikesh Vyas, Finance Director at Epoch Design said "Having to shred our documents using our slow shredding machine took up a lot of valuable time, not only because we could only shred a few sheets of paper at a time, but because we still had to empty the shredder, and dispose of the shredded paper afterwards. It was too messy and became a real distraction."

02: The Solution

Having decided to outsource the shredding process, the agency set about finding the right supplier for the job.

They were impressed with the range of services on offer from Restore Datashred; not only provides data destruction services, but also IT recycling, office recycling, product destruction, and a whole host of services from the wider Group.

Restore Datashred's services have given Epoch Design a good platform from which to start the planned ISO 14001 accreditation process.
